

Council Proclaims October As Peace Month in the City

by Sandy Smith

The City of Greenbelt declared October 2003 to be Peace Month and issued a proclamation at the September 30 city council meeting encouraging all citizens to participate in activities and events to promote peace and nonviolence. This year the city will join with other groups such as the Eleanor Roosevelt High School Character Education Program, the Prince George's Peace and Justice Coalition and others to conduct activities that promote peace.

Also at the council meeting, Major Judith Davis read a proclamation making October 4 to 11 Eleanor Roosevelt Week. She welcomed Sametta Bangura, Brogan Marshall and Nathaniel Carrera, students from Eleanor Roosevelt High School and faculty member Barbara Luther, who spoke about the contributions and legacy of Eleanor Roosevelt and the activities taking place at the school during Eleanor Roosevelt Week. The proclamation noted that the school was recognized as a 2002 National School of Character, one of only nine in the country. The students said that Eleanor Roosevelt had been a fine example in their efforts "to live with character in the pursuit of excellence" which has become known as "The Roosevelt Way." The school will hold its Roosevelt Week program at the school on Tuesday, October 7 at 7 p.m. featuring music and a noted guest speaker.

Springhill Lake Could Be Torn Down and Replaced

After meeting with two representatives of AIMCO, owners of Springhill Lake, on July 23, Planning and Community Development Director Celia Craze informed City Manager Michael McLaughlin and the city council that the owners of the Springhill Lake apartment complex are seriously interested in undertaking dramatic changes to the property. Craze said that Patti Schwayder and David Douglas of AIMCO advised her that the firm of Duany Plater-Zybeck and Co. (DPZ) has been retained to develop concepts for the property. Craze considers DPZ to be the preeminent international expert in New Urbanism development. The dramatic change under consideration could even include complete demolition and replacement of the nearly 3,000 apartment units. DPZ's "involvement in this project must be viewed as a significant philosophical commitment on the part of AIMCO to pursue high quality redevelopment of the property," Craze said.

Exactly what will be done and when it will be done are unknown at this time, Craze said. There are no plans, as yet. She did report that AIMCO would be looking at buildings up to four stories in height. They would be primarily rental as AIMCO is an apartment management company. The apartments would be priced for a variety of housing markets. AIMCO also is interested in increasing the number of dwelling units located there and developing a "Main street" element in the plan in order to provide a neighborhood scale and retail services, Craze reported.

City planning staff urged AIMCO to consider a number of issues in the planning including schools, street alignment, coordination with planned city improvements to Cherrywood Lane, transportation impacts, recreation needs, green space, Indian Creek impact and overall environmental protection. The city staff expects to have future meetings with the property owner representatives and DPZ. Craze indicated that DPZ was contemplating holding a design charette.

Mortgage Burning

This Sunday, Greenbelt Homes Inc. (GHI) will celebrate the final payoff of their 20-year rehabilitation loan. There will be a picnic for GHI members on the Community Center lawn starting at 2 p.m. Activities for children include a moon bounce. For the adults there will be awards for decorated courts as well as for volunteers. GHI current employees and retired employees, such as the well-remembered Jim Marshall, will also be on hand to celebrate. Police Chief James Craze, delegate Anne Healy and others are also expected. All GHI members are invited to join in the celebration.

History

After years of debate over rehab, the program got underway in 1983, with $11.1 million borrowed to finance the improvements. This year, with the final payment, $24 million had been repaid. Almost all homes were involved, with most receiving electric heavy-ups; new windows, insulation and siding on frame homes. Funds are now collected on an on-going basis to help keep the houses in top condition in the future.

Catholic Group Will Run Nursing Home

The Little Sisters of the Holy Family is "proceeding with plans to acquire the now-vacant Greenbelt Nursing Center . . .," according to a memorandum by Celia Craze, city planning director. The Little Sisters of the Holy Family is affiliated with the Catholic Archdiocese of Washington. The group has operated several centers in the Washington area, which have been sold. They plan to consolidate those operations in the Greenbelt center and use the property for a combination nursing home and rehabilitation center.

According to the city, the group's plans are on a "compressed" time schedule. The prospective owners hope to move in by the end of November. They plan to renovate the entire facility before then. Four members of the order will live in the facility.

History

The original Greenbelt Nursing and Rehabilitation Center was closed on December 31, 1998 following a cut-off of Medicare and Medicaid funding by federal and state regulators because of numerous quality care violations. These had led to almost a year of inspections, surveys, a consent agreement and litigation.

The center was previously operated by Northern Health Facilities, Inc., a subsidiary of Extendicare Health Services, Inc., of Milwaukee. When the earlier owners went to U.S. District Court in Greenbelt to request a temporary restraining order on the federal order to close, the request was denied and 82 patients were relocated to other facilities in the area. The nursing center has been empty since that time.

We Pose Three Questions To Candidates for Council

The candidates are off and running. Seven candidates have filed for the office of city council with the election to be held November 4. This year only three incumbents are seeking reelection. That means at least two of the challengers will become members of the next council. It is up to the voters to decide who they will be.

This paper assumes responsibility for helping voters make that decision. We have already printed biographies for each of the candidates prepared by the candidates. Now we ask the candidates to answer three questions. Their answers will be printed in the next three issues of the News Review. In addition, we will report on what takes place at any timely candidate nights held in the city.

Three Questions

We ask each candidate to respond to the following three questions:

1. What are the three most important goals that you expect to accomplish as a member of the city council in the next term if you are elected? (In 300 words)

2. What is the most important issue to be addressed in Greenbelt East? Greenbelt West? (Springhill Lake and Beltway Plaza) Greenbelt Center? (GHI and newer developments adjacent to it) How would you address each issue? (In 400 words)

3. How will you weigh the desire for more services (police, education, etc.) with the city's limited revenue resources and its dependency on property tax increases to balance its budgets? For example, should the city seek to reduce services to avoid tax increases or should the city continue to increase services and accept the tax impact? (In 300 words)

Candidates are required to submit their answers to the News Review before 9 p.m. on the Monday preceding the question's publication date. Answers will be limited to 300 words for the first and third questions and to 400 words for the second question. If an answer exceeds the limit, the answer will be cut off.

The answers to question 1 will be published in the October 9 issue of the News Review. Question 2 answers will be published on October 16 and question 3 answers will appear in the October 23 issue.

New Deal Brings Harvest Music Festival to Center

by Eileen Peterson

Roosevelt Center will echo with a variety of songs and instrumental music on Saturday, Oct. 11 from 1 to 10 p.m. This free concert will bring back 10 acts that have performed at the New Deal Café in the past year, said Richard McMullin, music coordinator.

The harvest-time festival of music will begin with a drummers' circle, followed by Stan Brown, musical historian and emcee for the day. For many years Brown was the Co-op pharmacist.

Doug Allen Wilcox, a contemporary folk singer from Frederick, Md, will be followed by Melissa Sites, an Appalachian mouth singer; next, Michelle Weinstine will sing urban folk and blues.

Wynne Paris will bring World Beat instruments from India to the stage and a mixture of Kirtan devotional singing and music he describes as "Raga Rock."

The Lucky Ones, cowboy funk and country love songs, will appear at the dinner hour, and then Tinsmith will bring Celtic folk music with rock overtones. Their acoustic and electric guitar music is augmented by an eclectic collection of traditional instruments.

J. R. and Waverly brings high-octane blues to the evening. To round out the concert, Global Warning is a band of five musicians, including two percussionists who promise to have the crowd dancing with them; guitar, bass and accordion accent the "world" rhythm.

This is the third concert series of the year produced by Friends of New Deal Café Arts (FONDCA). In case of rain, the concerts will move into the café.

An arts weekend in June was presented by a consortium of Greenbelt Association of Visual Artists, FONDCA, Greenbelt Arts Center, Greenbelt Access Television and the Greenbelt Writers' Group. All of these arts events were made possible by FONDCA funds (with $1,000 raised at a rummage sale) and grants from the City of Greenbelt and the Prince George's Arts Council.

More information about FONDCA can be obtained by calling Barbara Simon at 301-474-2192. See the display ad in next week's paper for specific Oct. 11 concert times.

Tales of a Birds-i-Viewer

by Marjorie Gray

As a devoted Greenbelter enjoying the natural and artistic beauties of our town, I seldom venture into other Prince George's County communities or parks. But when the Park and Planning Commission announced birds-i-view, my wanderlustful curiosity and love of creative expression impelled me to set forth. Reading the birds' names and locations in the M-NCPPC Guide further piqued my interest.

I'll never forget my first sight of that first bird as my husband and I came up the steps behind Greenbelt Library and rounded the corner in front of the Community Center. Checker Bird was in full glory then, sporting her ruff of five chess pieces.

Each new bird sculpture evokes a similar childlike delight, the urge to point and say, "Wow, look at that bird!" – to walk around and see all sides, to admire the perky eyes and beak of the basic fiberglass form and to notice the way the artists used color, design and media to enable their bird to sing out its name. Lovebirds and blue birds are two popular themes. Paint is the most common medium, followed by mosaic materials.

Auction

On November 20 at 7 p.m. at Hargrove, Inc., in Lanham, 73 of these birds will be auctioned. Proceeds will go to the Prince George's Arts Council's Art in Education grant programs. Everyone is invited to come and rekindle their pride in the county, support our youth and bid on one of these spectacular icons.

Viewers have only a few weeks left to track down the birds and photograph them in the habitats and landmark locations where they are on display as unique tourist attractions. The quest may prove challenging since the birds-i-view website has been down with a virus, many viewers lack Internet access and changes have been made to the printed guide. To ease and enhance your excursions, whether by vehicle or as armchair travelers, I offer the following review.

Golden Age Club
by Bunny Fitzgerald
The lovely luncheon in honor of Ellie and Joe Rimar’s 60th wedding anniversary was attended by a large group. The beautiful flowers and yellow table covers made it a very festive affair. Everyone was fascinated by the cake with edible pictures. One was of the bride and groom and another was an anniversary picture.
Joe read the new anniversary poem he had written for the occasion. It was beautiful and brought back memories of war time romances and life and marriage in a different era.

Many thanks to Solange Hess and helpers for making this such a nice affair.
There will be a yard sale on October 18 at the Roosevelt Center. Donors are requested to bring items to the Senior Lounge at the Community Center for pricing. Volunteers are needed to make this a success.

Education Forum

Dr. Andre Hornsby, CEO of Prince George's County Public Schools, has announced a series of community-wide meetings aimed at sharing system-wide initiatives and promoting community and family involvement in the education process across the county. These regional community education forums are the first in a series of planned meetings that will include PTA presidents, the faith community and other community groups. The first meeting will be held at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on October 13 at 7 p.m.

Among the topics to be discussed is the Quality Schools Program Strategic Plan (formerly the Master Plan) which will serve as a system-wide guide to ensure that all students are prepared academically to meet the challenges of a diverse 21st century society. Other topics for discussion include the Read to Lead initiative, curriculum and instruction, Code of Student Conduct, parent involvement, the Capital Improvement Program, High School Assessments and Maryland State Assessments.

Greenbelters were saddened to hear of the death of former Greenbelter Daniel Keith Linder. Our sympathy to his sister Nina Heimpel and her daughters Shawnee and Carrie of Research Road.

State Delegate Justin Ross has announced that Amber Dupree, David Ringgold and Meredith Dupree were scholarship recipients. Amber plans to use her scholarship at the University of Maryland, College Park; David at Montgomery Junior College, Rockville; and Meredith at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

Maura Anne Murray was born to John and Lori Murray on September 26, 2003 at Carroll County Memorial Hospital. She weighed in at 7 lbs., 8 oz. Maura was welcomed home by big sister Autumn and brothers Casey and Todd. Proud grandparents are Martin and MaryJo Murray of Research Road and Bob and Mary Ann Baker of Laurel Hill Road.

Brother James Sommers, a Greenbelt pioneer in his 51st year as a Cistercian monk at Holy Cross Abbey in Berryville, Va., was honored with a front-page feature article in the Clarke Times-Courier, which has been brought to our attention. The article described Sommers' years-long effort to unearth and display historical artifacts located on the monastery grounds on the western banks of the Shenandoah River. Sommers worked diligently to collect ancient Native American relics as well as Civil War artifacts from the Battle of Cool Spring that took place on the property in 1864. Congratulations, Brother James, for the well-deserved recognition!

We wish Esther Webb a speedy recovery. She is at Doctor's Hospital after a fall.

Best wishes to Gabriella Daley and Gregory Klatt who were married on September 27, 2003. "Gabby" is the daughter of News Review staffer Pat Davis.

Chemists Receive Grass Roots Awards

Two Maryland chemists, Dr. James Cassidy of East Greenbelt and Dr. Paul Terry of Calvert, received a Chem Luminary Grass Roots Award at the September National Meeting of the American Chemical Society in New York City.

This award was given for creating two 2002 National Chemistry Week programs, one for 4th to 6th graders to prepare drinking water from dirty Potomac River water and another for middle and high school students on cleaning water flowing into the Chesapeake Bay via the Anacostia River.

Two interactive presentations were given, one at the Prince George's County Kiwanis Club and the other at the National Wildlife Center in Laurel.

Girls Soccer Team Runs Record to 3-1

by Josh Hamlin

Erin Bistany, Shonte' Moten and Nathalie Hamlin scored two goals each as the U8 girls soccer team rolled past South Bowie, 6-0, on September 25. The girls recorded their third straight shut-out of the season with strong goalkeeping by Samantha Nash and Amritha Jayanti. Aubrey Gonzalez and Emily Winner keyed the attack and Lillian Childress, Rachel Dwivedi, Cidnee Greenfield, Ajia Hopkins, Phoebe McFarb, Claire Morse and Maia Tooley added strong midfield and defensive play.

On Saturday, September 27 the girls suffered their first defeat of the season, 0-5, to a talented Oxon Hill team. The team was shorthanded entering the game and suffered a pair of key injuries that left them without any substitutes for nearly a half. Still, the team persevered, running hard until the final whistle. Coaches Neil and Josh are especially proud of the girls for the courage and tenacity they displayed on Saturday, as it is a hallmark of a great team to give this sort of effort in the face of such adversity.

The team's record stands at three wins and one loss. Their next game is against Marlboro at 9 a.m. on Saturday, October 4 at Marlton Park.

The suspect was released on citation pending trial.

Open Alcohol

Eleanor Roosevelt High School, September 24, 3:26 p.m., a resident man was arrested and charged with open alcoholic beverage after he was observed on school property with an open beer. He was released on citation pending trial.

False Report

Roosevelt Center, September 20, 6:13 p.m., police responded to a report of a woman being stabbed. Investigation revealed that it was a false report. On September 23 a criminal summons was obtained charging a 50-year-old resident man with placing a false report.

Vandalism

New Deal Café, September 22, 9:13 p.m., a man vandalized a table belonging to the Café, punching through the table. The suspect, who fled the scene on foot, is described as a black male with black hair in braids, wearing a white T-shirt.

Vehicle Crimes

A number of vehicles were stolen and/or vandalized but, due to space limitations, they were omitted from this week's column. Eight vehicles were recovered with no arrests.

SAPP Funds Reduced by Fiscal Problems

Due to the current fiscal uncertainties within the 2004 State of Maryland budget, ten percent, or just over $50,000 of the funding appropriated for the State Aid for Police Protection Program (SAPP) has been withheld, according to James Bowman of the Grants Management Unit with the Maryland State Police.

The Fiscal Year 2004 funds appropriated for SAPP but not allotted will be placed in contingency reserve to be made available for subsequent allotment upon notification that fiscal uncertainties for the state have been fulfilled.

Greenbelt City Manager Michael McLaughlin reported that "the city had reduced the FY 2004 estimate by $12,000, so the true impact of this news is a further reduction of $38,000."

City Notes

Crews were on duty from early Thursday, September 18, getting ready for the onslaught of Hurricane Isabel. Sandbags were readied, trees were trimmed, supplies purchased and equipment checked for preparedness. All through Thursday night and into Friday afternoon employees battled wind and heavy rain to move downed trees and debris. Approximately 30 trees came down in the storm.

For the majority of the Public Works' employees the week of September 22 was spent in continued cleanup and hauling of downed trees. In addition, the following work was done:

The facilities maintenance crew reset the time clocks throughout the city after the power was restored and continued painting the exterior of the Springhill Lake Recreation Center.

The streets crew, using the loader and backhoe, assisted with cleanup of debris from the hurricane; repaired pot holes and cleaned storm drains and underpasses; and delivered letters to residents on Lastner Lane explaining the upcoming repair work in their area.

The parks crew continued work on the bridge for the walking trail at Schrom Hills Park and continued work on the new playground equipment near St. Hugh's.

The special details crew began painting crosswalks on Ridge Road and Crescent Road, replaced numerous signs and poles which were damaged by the storm and installed 27 poles for campaign signs.

On Saturday, September 20, 12 volunteers participated in the Greenbelt Lake Cleanup. Approximately 340 pounds of trash and recyclables were removed from the lake shoreline.

Greenbriar Residents Visit Atlantic City

In the early morning hours of Saturday, September 27, 52 Greenbriar residents boarded a 54-passenger luxury motorcoach bound for Caesar's Casino in Atlantic City. Residents munched on a light breakfast while door prizes and complimentary gifts were distributed to all. A 50/50 raffle was held and $70 was raised for donation to a local charity.

Lady Luck was at work for several Greenbriar residents. Among the winners was Barbara Smith, president of the Greenbriar Community Association, whose hard work as bus leader was handsomely rewarded at the slots.

The Atlantic City trip was the second of two casino trips held annually by the Greenbriar Community Association.

Pink Ribbon Ride

Greenbelt's bike ride for breast cancer is Saturday, Oct. 4. Registration, on the Community Center lawn, begins at 8:30 a.m. Rides of 40, 20 and 10 miles will head out beginning at 9 a.m. A family fun ride of two miles will circle the lake. Funds raised will be donated to Y-Me.

ELECT KONRAD HERLING TO THE GREENBELT CITY COUNCIL

At our best, we are Working together for a Greater Greenbelt

In 1979, the idea of a cultural arts program was just that. Today, 24 years later, the visual and performing arts have become an essential ingredient of what living in Greenbelt is all about. From the creation of the Greenbelt Arts Center, which provides primarily performing arts programming, to the visual and plastic arts which can be found in our Community Center, citizens young and older can benefit from classes and performances. Greenbelt Access Television provides our youth a chance to create delightful, internationally recognized animated films, movies are back at the Old Greenbelt Theater, and folk music can be heard inside and outside of the New Deal Café.

It is clear to me, and, I believe, to Greenbelters in general, that these programs enrich our quality of life. We are now a city which has not only enjoyed the music of “The Nighthawks,” Peter Tork, and Santiago Rodriguez, but has also been the beneficiary of the writing of Greenbelter Marsha Barrett, and the exciting new film work of Mike McMullin and West Brook.

I am committed to building on our burst of culture, looking to develop greater coordination between our arts organizations, the business community, and the city so the arts can be shared with all of our citizens, and in the process, bring Greenbelters closer together.

By authority of Treasurer, Jack Maffay

Senior Resource of the Month Adult Care Center

by Christal Parker Batey, Community Resource Advocate

A hidden nugget, the Greenbelt Adult Care Center, is a medical day program located in the heart of the city in the Greenbelt Community Center, 15 Crescent Road. This program offers a supervised and structured day program which includes transportation, two meals and an afternoon snack, medical oversight by a registered nurse, activities, therapies, a support group, access to a medical social worker, podiatry care, trips and college courses offered by Prince George’s Community College.

The stimulating environment offered by the center focuses on participants’ strengths and offers age appropriate activities for its clients, who range in age from 45 to 100. Walkers, canes or a wheelchair are not an excuse for not participating in the activity programs offered on a daily basis. Socialization to avoid isolation, adaptable games and trained and friendly healthcare staff make the Greenbelt Adult Care Center a healthcare option located right in our backyard. Currently 75 seniors are enrolled in the Monday-to-Friday program and only two participants reside in Greenbelt. The center also has grant funds available which result in minimal daily fees.

For more information about the Greenbelt Adult Care Center or to sign up for a two-day free trial visit call Beverly Long at 301-507-6590.

Building on the Spirit of Greenbelt ...and Expanding the Possibilities

Dear Citizens of Greenbelt:

We all want better schools and it is possible to have them. Good schools are essential for a healthy community. Working together, the city council, the school board, parents, teachers and students can enhance education in the city. The future will bring opportunities to improve education in Greenbelt – a key one is the rebuilding of Greenbelt Middle School. I support this and the innovative programs that the city has created in support of education, particularly the School Resource Officer and the programs of the Advisory Committee on Education (ACE). As ACE chair since its creation, I helped establish the ACE Reading Club, the ACE Tutor Program and the annual ACE Awards, which recognize outstanding Greenbelt students and educators. As a city council member, I pledge to use my knowledge of school issues for the benefit of Greenbelt.

“Leta understands educational issues. She will be a good advocate for education on the city council.”
